

James Double promoted to main Punter Southall Governance Services Board

A quartet of promotions at Punter Southall Governance Services (PSGS) has seen James Double promoted to Director with a seat on the main PSGS board.

James, who is an Associate of the Pensions Management Institute, has headed up trusteeship and technical for the firm since February 2017. The promotion sees him appointed to the Board of Directors, joining Wayne Phelan (MD), Stuart Southall (Chairman) and Edwin Bruce-Gardner.

Wayne Phelan, PSGS's Managing Director, commented:

"James has excelled in his role heading up professional trusteeship for PSGS, helping improve and expand our services and further develop our technical strength. His appointment to the PSGS Board is great news - it will enable us to deliver our strategic objectives more effectively and help PSGS' next phase of growth."

The announcement also saw Kevin Kenneally promoted to Client Director and James Duggan and Curtis Mitchell to Scheme Manager.

About Punter Southall Governance Services (PSGS)

PSGS are the trusteeship and pension governance experts. We share our extensive knowledge and experience and find really smart solutions to benefit our clients.

Our new name followed the merger in January 2018 of two long-standing firms, PS Independent Trustees and HR Trustees, collectively having been in business for over 40 years. As a firm, we've purposefully kept ourselves at the head of trusteeship and governance. New ideas, new solutions and new technology - that's us.

We're a team of 37 and are now probably the largest professional trustee firm in the UK. We've just been successful at keeping the personal feel we had at the very start.

Professionalism and personality have got us a long way. We currently work with over 210 clients covering over 420,000 members and £40bn in assets. From the very small (£0.5m) to the very large (£15bn), clients stay with us. They trust us to get on with the job and deliver great service, knowing we'll be friendly too.
